5. [REDACTED] in its relation to Navy support was discussed particularly concerning character of support required and security to the Navy. Mr. [REDACTED] took the opportunity to emphasize and enjoin the conferees that all OPC operations by their very nature, in protection to foreign and domestic relations, called for treatment in strict security. To further implement a meeting of minds concerning long range planning liaison, Mr. [REDACTED] made clear his intention to select a staff member fully capable to qualify for OPC plans and policy duty with CINCHELM. (It was pointed out as a matter of information that [REDACTED] 25X1A effects from Washington the immediate channels of liaison with CINCHELM).

6. Captain Ford and Captain Fletcher made reference that there now exist indicators to them of certain wartime missions in order of priority in the CINCHELM area which fall within the category of OPC activity, and which are pertinent for joint OPC-CINCHELM planning.

Comment: Significant Results:

1. Clarification to a receptive CINCHELM staff of OPC's role in support of their wartime special missions.
